

Liz Pagel
SVP, Global Head of Alternative Data Solutions
TransUnion

Liz Pagel is the Global Head of Alternative Credit Data Solutions at TransUnion. In her role, Liz is deeply engaged in the evolution of the credit ecosystem, focusing on the growing use of alternative data to enhance risk assessment, expand access to credit, and improve consumer outcomes. She partners closely with customers, analytics, engineering, and commercial teams to translate emerging data assets and insights into scalable, market-ready products for financial services and other markets globally. During her ten years at TransUnion, Liz previously ran the company's FinTech business, serving lenders with some of the most cutting-edge underwriting and marketing strategies. Her experience with these lenders inspired market deep market experience drive Prior to joining TransUnion, Liz was a leader on the financial services team at the Boston Consulting Group, focused on projects driving growth strategy, product innovation, and operational efficiency. She began her career as a credit underwriter for JPMorgan's commercial lending business. Liz holds bachelor's degrees in Economics and English from Boston College, and an MBA from Harvard Business School.